PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NOTES AND HAPPENINGS IN TOWN.

Doings of the Various Sets in this City and Its Immediate Vicinity—The Goings and Comings and Other Items of General Interest.

The weather has been very variable the past week.

The L. S. Simmons family with Mrs. McElroy as their guest motored to Santa Rosa Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Froment spent the fore part of the week visiting with San Francisco relatives.

Miss Cassie Brown of San Francisco was a guest at the Weyl home here Saturday and Sunday.

P. Basaglia, the stone mason, has just completed a handsome brick front on the Mission Garage building on Napa street. It is certainly a skillful piece of work.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Small wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Bernice Dolores, to Mr. H. John Sholden of San Francisco. The wedding will take place in the near future.

Hon. Duncan E. McKinlay and ex-Postmaster Tripp of Santa Rosa were in town last Wednesday. They are both old line Republicans and are working to keep the party together for the Congressional election the coming fall.

Dr. F. Sprague, surgeon on the big liner Korea, who has been absent on a two months and a half voyage, arrived in the metropolis Monday and joined his wife and two children in their apartments in the St. Charles. He will make another voyage in a very short time.

Right Rev. Bishop Moreland of Sacramento was here Sunday to administer the sacrament of confirmation in Trinity Church. The confirmation took place at 8 o'clock in the evening. The church was beautifully decorated and presented a pretty appearance. During the Bishop's stay in Sonoma he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Simmons, and among other things Mr. Simmons drove his distinguished guest to the Glen Ellen home of Jack London, Rev. Mr. Oehloff, the local rector of Trinity Church, being of the party, who were entertained at dinner by Jack London.

Last Saturday afternoon the piano pupils of Miss Alta Rice enjoyed a musical at the home of their teacher near Vineburg. Boyhood and life stories of the master musician, John Sebastian Bach, were told in honor of the anniversary of his birth. An interesting and instructive musical program was rendered by the pupils. Refreshments were served and a musical contest and other games were enjoyed. Miss Rice has recently studied with Geo. Kruger, of San Francisco, who is a pupil of the world-renowned Russian master, Seschetizky. She received her instruction in theory at the Occidental College of Music, Los Angeles, and had very successful classes in piano in the southern part of the State.

Billy Fowler, after a six month's rest, has returned to Cantoni's bakery.

George Bulotti, a San Francisco business man, was the guest of relatives here Sunday.

Thos. Bird of Alameda is here for a visit of several weeks with relatives at the Price residence.

Mrs Homer and granddaughter, Dorothy, are here from the metropolis, guests at the Goess home.

Mrs. Grace I. Bonner, her little niece, Grace I. Richards, and Mrs. Marie Taylor of San Francisco are guests at the Granice home.

Sam Sebastiani, the local wine man, is in New York city on business and pleasure combined. He will be absent several weeks.

City Surveyor Thos. Lewis has commenced to subdivide the Waterman tract near Fetters' Hot Springs. The tract embraces about fifty acres.

A number of new buildings are going up between Boyes Springs and Agua Caliente. A large theatre is being erected at Fetters Hot Springs near the hotel and is nearing completion. In the burned district opposite Boyes Springs two new buildings were started Tuesday—a store and a barber shop. The store building, which will also house the postoffice, will be rushed to speedy completion by contractor Gowan, who is erecting the building.

Over five hundred people attended the ball game Monday at Boyes baseball park between the Chicago White Sox and the San Francisco Seals. It was a great game, being contested in twelve hot innings, the White Sox winning the game with two runs with one for the Seals. Many prominent citizens for miles around attended the game. The crowd was with the Seals, who to its keen disappointment failed to carry off the honors.

Attorney Frank Sprague of this city was one of the many interested spectators at the White Sox-Seals ball game at Boyes last Monday afternoon. The "Senator" sported a brand new straw hat. President Baines of the El Verano Development Association, headed a big crowd of ball fans from El Verano, while Roadmaster Toots Serres was there a hundred from Agua Caliente. Art Hickman of Boyes was also there with that same old smile and—well, almost every ball fan and fanny in the valley were there to see a great game.

Writes About Peru and Some of Its Cities He Has Visited in His Travels Abroad

Arequipa is the second largest town in Peru, claimed to have 45,000 population. It is located at the foot of Mt. Misti, a live volcano 19,000 feet in height. To the left of this is Mt. Corapuna, 21,000 feet high. Standing at the west side of the Plaza des Armas, looking towards the Catedrale which forms the whole east side of the plaza, these mountains form a beautiful and majestic snow-covered background. This plaza is 7,500 feet above sea level. The catedrale was built after the big earthquake in 1868 and is of massive proportions, though neither inside nor outside very interesting. The church of the Jesuit order, built in 1682, has a beautiful doorway and is splendidly equipped inside. The Jesuit priests have been offered a new church in return for four pictures displayed and hung on the inside walls, but this offer has not been tempting enough.

Surrounding the plaza on the other three sides are lofty arcades filled with stores and the walks or paths through and around the plaza are covered with the most beautiful ornamental tiles I ever laid my eyes upon. These mosaic tiles are made in Peru.

Together with Dr. Warren, who is still my traveling companion, I visited the Harvard Observatory at Carmen Alto, about 9,500 feet above sea level. This station controlled by the Harvard University, was erected in 1891 and has furnished the world with valuable data until a few years ago the climatic conditions have changed some and nightly appearing clouds obstructed the work of search. The telescope is the biggest of its kind for photography, making plates 12x14 inches. It took us several hours to view this and two other telescopes, one of which is for spectral photographic purposes. But the most interesting was the seismic apparatus, indicating earthquakes locally. They had in 1913, all told, twenty-six earthquakes, of which the one of August 6th, lasting three and one half minutes, did a great deal of damage and killed twenty-three people. Plenty of ruins I noticed and hardly a building without some patch work. We were well received by Drs. Campbell and Ketchum at the conservatory.

What a contrast these well-built American houses and well-kept gardens and grounds in comparison with Panama houses. How the average Cholo—the mixed breed Indian and Spanish—are living is beyond comprehension, and the foreigners suffer much hardship as far as cleanliness and comfort is concerned. Though there are exceptions, for instance, we were invited by friends of Dr. K., a family by name of Young, to breakfast and these people had a nice home with a beautiful garden and all sorts of fowl. The almost perfect and throughout the year uniform climate is unique, and a reason for their living in Arequipa.

Near by, about 18 miles northeast by railroad nearer the foot of Mt. Misti, are the famous healing springs at Yura. The water is also carbonated and bottled and is shipped quite far. Its name is Aqua de Socosani de Yura. The springs are the pleasure resort and Sunday excursion place for people from Arequipa. Another water of famous renown, also bottled and shipped all along the west coast, is the Aqua de Jesus. This spring is reached by trolley car and facilities for bathing are now being installed. Two crops of vegetables are grown in the surrounding well-irrigated valleys. Arequipa also has a small but well-equipped brewery.

Going further east into the interior we left Arequipa at 7:30 a. m. and at half-past two reached the highest point of the railroad, Crucero Aeto, 14,666 feet high, just 118 feet less in height than the top of Mt. Shasta, Cal.

Very little of interest is to be seen along the railroad except snow-capped peaks, though we saw small herds of vicunas twice. Over night we stopped in Juliaca, the following night at Sicuani and on the third evening reached Cusco, the old capital of the Incas. It is much hardship to the traveler used to the railroads in the United States, but three days in Cusco, viewing the ruins of the Inca race, their fortresses, the temple of the sun, new Church of Santa Domingo, the Arco de Sta. Clara, the Inca fountain, Ruinas del Templo de Viracoocha and of the Palacio de Ollantaytambo, pays well for the side trip and inconveniences of two days traveling both ways. A family, Austen by name, have horses and mules and the trips in the various directions under the guidance of well-informed boys are easily made.

The agent of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., to whom I had a letter of introduction, claims to have some Inca blood in his veins, but the race is well extinct. There are very few white people in Cusco and the general population is of the Querhua Indian tribe, somewhat superior to the Cholos along the coast.

With Senior Vincocaya, the Singer agent, I went out to a small buried city, about eight miles from Cusco, which is partly laid bare, but when professors started to remove parts of the ruins to the United States the Peruvian authorities stopped the proceedings.

About eighty miles southeast a very large buried city of pre-Inca time has been discovered lately, and these ruins are being cleared by German professors, but I considered four days on muleback too much trouble for that little extra pleasure, of which I considered having had enough anyway.

On the two days trip to Puno I noticed several alpaca herds, but otherwise little of interest. At Puno I made the acquaintance of the manager of Grace & Co's La Paz branch, and we boarded a steamer crossing Lake Titicaca over night for Guaqui. This lake is 12,640 feet above sea level, just a good 4,000 feet higher than Lake Tahoe. All this country is above the timber line and Llama dung dried is the only fuel. From the deck of the steamer Inca we could well observe the shores and noticed the land being cultivated, though in small patches like on the shores of the lakes in the Alps.

At 8 a. m. we reached the narrows Tiquina and then passed a number of islands of which the largest, also called Titicaca (Sun Island) contains the ruins of a sun temple, palace and other monuments of Inca time. Manco Capac and his sister, wife, Mama Oello, who were the founders of the Inca race, as legends tell us, started from this island to conquer Cusco.

With the train from Guaqui to La Paz we passed Tiahuanaco. Here are ruins of pre-Inca times, but the lororhi (altitude sickness) had the best of me in the shape of a headache that I could not leave the car. I reached La Paz at 4 p. m. and found the Hotel Guibert to be a fair and large inn. The trip had been trying, the train climbing gently from the lake to Alto La Paz (14,100 feet), where the engine is uncoupled and a powerful electric motor takes the train down six miles on a 6 per cent grade about 900 feet. La Paz from the Alto offers a magnificent panorama. I was glad to take a rest in the hotel. The impressions of scenery and ruins and the high altitude had tired me out completely.

After a good night's rest and a meager breakfast I ventured into the plaza, and further down the steep streets, and to my greatest surprise, I saw the whole streets turned into an open market on this Sunday morning and the loud offering of the manifold ware mingling with the sound of church bells greatly impressed me. Hundreds of llamas and donkeys were being herded in side streets after having brought their loads to town. The Cholotas and Aymayra Indian women, selling vegetables, meat, bread, stoneware, home-made shoes and shawls, nuts, fruit, pastry, fowl, etc., in their original Indian costumes, was a sight never to be forgotten. And very honest people they are. All wear white straw hats in shape similar to cowboy hats, and short dresses, under which between six and ten petticoats are sticking or peeping out. They wear no stockings, but small, neat shoes. Some of the more wealthier and more fashionable class, however, wear high, light-colored boots. Short as they all are they appear in their dresses like our mothers or grandmothers did in their gowns with steel hubs, say fifty years ago.

In the afternoon, coming back by a trolley car to a small village further down the La Paz river, I stopped to see a band of Indians in front of the Escuela Militar who were exercising and rehearsing for their holiday, a masquerade, to take place in about a week. With their drums and flutes made of bamboo and dancing in their own fashion it looked quite odd. In the evening a military band played Bolivian airs in the plaza, but I had to listen to this from the hotel window, it being too cold and chilly to be out doors for me, though in the plaza were thousands of people, and of these Indians, well wrapped in their ponchos, were the majority.

Charged With Conducting "Blind Pig" in Kenwood

Sheriff J. K. Smith and Deputy C. A. Reynolds went to Kenwood late Monday afternoon and arrested Frank Pedroncelli, charged with violation of the new county ordinance, making it an offense to keep intoxicating liquors within ten feet of a building in which soft drinks are sold, says the Press Democrat.

The Sheriff found that Pedroncelli's house is in reality his winery and wine cellar combined and that thousands of gallons of wine are stored in the cellar. Three cases of beer were also found in the place along with the soft drinks. The owner plead ignorance of the law and agreed to come into court Tuesday and plead guilty.

Shreve's place at Freestone was also searched by the Sheriff Monday evening, but nothing contraband was discovered and no arrest was made, although it was claimed liquors were being sold there.

SUDDEN DEATH ON THE JONES RANCH

Emile Kaiser, a Ranch Hand Found Dead in Bed Wednesday Morning—Heart Trouble the Cause

About a week ago Emile Kaiser obtained employment on the Jones place as a ranch hand. He was a German about sixty years of age and it was noticed by his fellow workers that he appeared to be troubled with asthma or some other complaint that interfered with his respiration.

He became so ill Tuesday afternoon he was compelled to give up work in the field and went to his room in the bunk house and laid down Later in the evening he complained to his fellow workers of being cold and was covered with a number of extra blankets. He then apparently went to sleep, but when the breakfast hour arrived he was called by one of the ranch hands, when the man was found to be dead.

He was a stranger in these parts and what led to his identity was a savings bank book on the German Savings and Loan Society of San Francisco, showing a small deposit to his credit. He is supposed to be a single man.

Coroner Blackburn held an inquest on the remains Wednesday afternoon and the verdict was the deceased came to his death from natural causes.

Black Point Boosters Abroad

Two automobiles loaded with boosters for the Black Point Cutoff left this city Wednesday for the northern part of the county. For the purpose of educating the people of Healdsburg, Cloverdale and other cities north of Santa Rosa to the importance of the Board of Supervisors taking hold of this great highway proposition, this trip has been made and we trust not in vain. Among those who were in the party were Frank Koenig, J. F. Picetti, Secretary of the Sonoma Chamber of Commerce, Mayor M. E Cummings, Dr. Parramore of Boyes Springs and others.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL BONDS CARRY

Only Fifty-Six Votes Against the Thirty Thousand Dollar Proposition for New School House

At the election held in the Sonoma School district last Saturday, at which was submitted the proposition to bond the district for $30,000 to build an up-to-date school house, the bonds all but carried unanimously, only 56 votes being recorded against the bonds.

This was a great victory in favor of public improvement and puts Sonoma on the map as one of the most progressive little cities north of San Francisco. The town already has built a fine High School building by direct tax, has built a fine City Hall and constructed a sewer system by bonding and is also maintaining a Carnegie Library by a direct tax, and the spirit of improvement is still in the air.

All hail to Sonoma and its civic pride.

Poultry Producers Federation

The freight platform of the Northwestern Pacific railroad in this city presented quite an animated scene on Thursday owing to the fact that the poultymen belonging to the Sonoma County Poultry Producer's Federation, started the shipping of their product to their agent Fred L. Hilmer of San Francisco. All the eggs were shipped to the Federation headquarters at Petaluma, over 100 cases being handled. After being packed, etc., in that city the eggs are shipped in carload lots to different parts of the country. Two carloads were recently shipped to Calgary, Canada. A number of new members signed up their contracts and paid up their entrance fees in this city last week.

Organizer Humphreys stated to an Index-Tribune reporter that the movement for the fairer prices was spreading from Santa Rosa to Tomales, from Sebastopol to Petaluma and Sonoma. Why, he asked, are egg buyers paying level quotations now, when a few weeks ago a cent below was the order of things.

The regular shipping days from Sonoma are Mondays and Thursdays between the hours of 10:30 a. m. and 3 p. m.

BLACK POINT BOOSTERS ARE NOT TO BE DENIED.

The Black Point Boosters of Sonoma are not to be denied, and notwithstanding the Board of Supervisors of this county have not taken hold of the Black Point Cut-Off proposition with the vim and energy which it merits, its advocates, and they number almost every man, woman and child in the Sonoma Valley from the shores of San Pablo Bay on the south to Rincon Valley on the north, are working all the harder to secure from Sonoma county its share toward building this great public highway.

The amount asked Sonoma county as its share toward constructing the Black Point Cut-Off is only $75,000, and, what is more, the money ought to be available if provided for by three semi-annual installments. Lying idle in the several banks in this county was $300,000 belonging to the school fund. Of this $300,000 the Board of Supervisors at a recent session passed a resolution appropriating $220,000 from this idle fund for purchasing State highway bonds for the purpose of assuring the completion of the highway between the Marin county line to Santa Rosa via Petaluma. This was eminently right and proper. In the case of the Black Point Cut-Off, however, this cannot be done as the State Highway Commission will put up cash to the amount of $125,000 as its share toward building the Cut-Off.

Now, what we want to emphasize is this: If the Supervisors could stretch a point or two in favor of the one highway they surely ought to be able to stretch a point or two in favor of the other, which has the endorsement of every civic organization in this section of Sonoma county.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Don't forget the ball game Saturday at 2 o'clock.

We all had to come back at 12:30 last Monday and were excused at 2 o'clock, so we could witness the White Sox-Seal game, and what a game it was.

Yes, there is still a few coming. We have added another name to the roll of our institution of learning, Miss Grander, who was formanly of the Girl's High School of San Francisco.

The cities and not the federal government should take care of the unemployed, so the judges, of the debate between the Cloverdale and Sonoma High Schools decided. It was a debate of debates. Everyone present thought that Sonoma had won, but the judges decided otherwise. The judges said that Cloverdale excelled in composition and delivery while Sonoma had a shade of advantage in argument. Cicero thinks otherwise but its over now.

Next Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. the two teams of the Sonoma and Santa Rosa High Schools will give a demonstration of baseball as baseball should be played for the small admission fee of 15c.

Those who were present at the Santa Rosa - Sonoma debate will remember the dispute that arose as to whether the first or the last speaker on the affirmative should make the rebuttal. Well the rules have been thoroughly searched and it seems that Sonoma was in the right. According to the rules it makes no difference which speaker on the affirmative makes the rebuttal. Santa Rosa has showed her sportsmanship and acknowledged her mistake.

"Easy Jim" Tells in an Interesting Way all About the Week's Happenings in and Around His Section of the Valley.

Enrico Forni has returned after a week's visit in San Francisco.

Harry J. Kizer formerly of this place was visiting friends here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Murray visited in the Exposition City on Saturday.

Miss Mary Batto was the guest of relatives in the City of Roses on Monday.

John Gross and Henry Haur of Rhinefarm spent the week end in the bay cities.

Messrs. Norman Heggie and Arthur Batto transacted business in Petaluma last Friday.

Miss Jesse Hiser and her brother, Henry, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Batto last Sunday.

A. B. Brandt was a passenger on Sunday morning's train to the metropolis returning the same evening.

Professor Ricci returned Saturday evening after fulfilling several musical engagements in the bay cities.

Mrs. August Figone and children returned to their San Francisco home Friday, after a pleasant visit with her parents.

Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, accompanied by her son Robert Harrison, visited the metropolis on Saturday and Sunday.

An election of school trustees for Huichica District will be held on Friday, April 3rd, at the school house. Polls open from 1 to 5 p. m.

Mr. N. Forni, a well-known business man of Santa Rosa, was a guest at Pleasant Villa last Saturday and his many friends were glad to see him.

Howard Knight, the popular deputy assessor and well-known young farmer of Schellville, was transacting business in this vicinity last Saturday.

That "live wire" member of the Sonoma Chamber of Commerce, John Picetti, was shaking hands with his many friends at Batto's spur on Wednesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Batto and family, accompanied by Miss Adele Andrieux, motored to the different points of interest in the northern part of the valley Sunday.

Henry Pape, besides being an artistic mixologist, is also a very graceful dancer. All the latest society dances are in his repertory and he always brings the floor down.

One of the interesting sights at a late social event was Jim Small sitting in a corner with a little native son on his knee singing, "The Babies of our Block." Good nurse that, Jim.

A pleasant reception was tendered Mrs. Thomas Lentz by a number of her friends at Forni's Hall on last Monday. Dancing, singing and music were indulged in and all departed well pleased.

Prof. Ricci has found out a new way of getting rid of "bees" that is very simple, just drive them into a corner, then catch them by the hind legs and then put them into a coal oil can and "smoke them out." You cannot get "stung" that way.

The poultry business of Sonoma Valley must be booming from the looks of things around Batto's Feed Warehouses the past month, several carloads of feed arriving each day. Thursday a car containing 700 sacks arrived on the spur and another containing 350 sacks of sure lay egg food.

Morning worship at 11 a. m. My creed is what I do, your creed is what you do and the other fellows creed is what he does. No two men act the same because their creeds differ. A man may say "That is my creed" and be mistaken. "I believe in God" my friend may say but he does not act it and he is deceiving himself but not the rest of us. There are some people who are not yes, neither are they no. They are what the world calls double minded. They are not bad, neither are they good. They are wobblers. They are neither fast nor loose but they are unstable in all their ways. They do not love anything as well as themselves and you cannot love a worse thing if you want to be reliable, worthy and great. In religious things double mindedness is a sin, for that is what the people do who are afflicted that way. We never did think much of the man who loved all women alike. One is enough and more if all is not well. Sunday morning we will give the cure for doublemindedness. We will show you a love that pleasantly controls.

Y. P. S. C. E. will meet at 6.30 p. m. and you are invited.

The evening worship at 7.30 p. m. We want to show that much impatience is the want of humility People get very sore that other people are not acting right when they do not know the facts. It is not easy to put yourself in anothers place. A man of great pron i ence sent to his friend to protest against his way of acting but no doubt he repented for it in sackcloth and ashes. Come and see.

Sonoma Valley Furniture Co. Accepts Agency for Ostermoor Mattress

The Sonoma Valley Furniture Co., an enterprising firm, have taken over the well-known OSTERMOOR MATTRESS. They just received a big stock of all seizes and prices. Take one on trial. You take no risk.

Dear friend Easy Jim, Vineburg:

I am very much pleased to see that you and my friend Adaline have fixed things up again and expect to take that trip. Many thanks for the invitation to accompany you as bridesmaid and I'm also overjoyed at the bill-of-fare you are going to take with you. Don't you think it would make that German luxury more complete if you would add a cake to that barrel of saurkraut and steam beer. The cake I mean is the kind that makes you grab your nose with one hand and the cake with the other and is commonly called Limburger, also some black bread called pumpernickle, some bretxels and a keg of Holland herring, we then could have that wedding feast complete when we arrive in the Valley of the Moon.

Yours,
MALINDA.

Assessor's NOTICE

TO

Property Owners

All taxpayers are required by the constitution to make and deliver to the County Assessor annually a statement, under oath, setting forth specifically all the real and personal property owned by such person, or in his possession, or under his control, at 12 o'clock, M., on the first Monday in March.
